ATTEMPTED SUICIDE.—Yesterday after-moon about 6 o'clock a white man named Richard M. Spraggins, about forty-five years of age, a box-maker by trade, at-tempted to drown himself by jumping into the river near the Old Dominion Steam-shin Company's wharves. He was rescued ship Company's wharves. He was rescued by parties who witnessed the rash act, and turned over to Justice Mays, who took him to the First police station. The man is thought to be insane. A commission of lunacy will inquire into the case.

WELL RANAGED.

The exhibition was so satisfactory and pleasing in all essential particulars that our people do not know on which most to felicitate themselves—the liberality of the Council Centennial Committee in procuring this rare treat for them and the city's visitors or the taste Mr. Pizzini displayed in carrying out their wishes—first in the procurement of pieces so admirably suitable, and then in superintending their proper discharge.
